

Liam McCallion

What is your major, and what kind of career are you looking to enter after graduating?

I am currently majoring in Communication with a minor in Business at the University of Nevada, Reno. After I graduate, I plan to pursue a career in real estate. My long-term goal is to become a successful real estate agent. I want to take what I've learned about communication and apply it to working with clients, helping them make important decisions about homes and investments. Real estate combines my interest in business with my passion for connecting with people.

What is your technical background?

I wouldn't describe myself as extremely computer savvy, but I know how to get by when it comes to schoolwork. I regularly use programs like Microsoft Word and Excel for assignments and projects, though I don't often use them outside of class. Most of my technical experience comes from school-related tasks, such as writing papers, creating presentations, or completing spreadsheets. I also enjoy playing games on the computer, which has helped me get more comfortable with technology over time.

Tell me some non-technical things about yourself. Tell me WHO you are.

I was born and raised in Brentwood, California, and later moved to Reno to attend UNR. I chose this university because my brother had attended before me, and I wanted to follow in the path he had taken for education and career. Outside of academics, I enjoy playing soccer, following sports, and spending time with family and friends. Music is also a big part of my life. I mostly listen to hip-hop and rap, mostly listening to rappers from the Bay Area. One of my favorite movies is the Harry Potter series, and I love to watch alot of YouTube as well. Looking ahead, my dream is to build a strong career in real estate, not only for personal success but also to make a positive impact by helping people find the right place to call home.
